

ABSTRACT

This research aimed to examine the influence of the information of accounting management system on quality performance. The research was conducted at the hospitality manager in the city of Palembang. Samples were determined by using purposive sampling method. The number of samples used in this research were 16 hospitality. The data used in this study were 33 questionnaires. Hypothesis testing using multiple linear regression analysis using SPSS 20. The test result indicate that the first hypothesis (H1) is accepted that management accounting information of broad scope effect on quality performance. The second hypothesis (H2) is accepted that management accounting information of timeliness effect on quality performance. The third hypothesis (H3) is accepted that management accounting information of aggregation effect on quality performance. The fourth hypothesis (H4) is accepted that management accounting information of integration effect on quality performance.

Keywords: Management accounting information of broad scope, management accounting information of timeliness, management accounting information of aggregation and management accounting information of integration, and quality performance