

ABSTRACT

Every aspect of human life is always affected by numbers, one of those is date of birth. The numbers in date of birth can be counted using “Power of Numbers” numerology counting method to reveal life events, behaviors and destinies, either it is good or bad. Though the numerology expert is difficult to find but the counting pattern of this method can be made as an orientation to the building of web-based counting application.

This web-based counting application is builded using Waterfall method and UML modelling language. The usage of PHP and MySQL allows the building of desired web application and is tested through black box and white box testing method. Based on personal beliefs, the user can either trust or not to trust the result.
