Indonesian Journal of English Language Studies (IJELS)

Indonesian Journal of English Language Studies (IJELS), print and online versions, is a journal dedicated to contribute to the improvement of English Language Studies in Indonesia. It is intended to contribute to human progress and development by way of English Linguistics, Literature, Education and other relevant sub-disciplines. IJELS is not limited to ELS in Indonesia but covers ELS in any other countries throughout the world.

IJELS is managed and published in Yogyakarta by the English Language Studies of Sanata Dharma University Yogyakarta, Indonesia twice a year, annually in March and September. It is expected that IJELS will bring a new color of knowledge sharing to enrich the flourish of English Language teaching and studies across the universe.

Authors throughout the world are warmly welcome to submit original and unpublished papers anytime, all year round.
